Petits Chevaux Gets Second, Though Finishing Last, at Belmont Races.

MISTAKE FAVORS NOSEGAY

Speculator Apparently in Front of Him, but Officials Rule Otherwise.

A holiday crowd enjoyed the races held by the Meadow Brook Steeplechase Asso-ciation at Belmont Park Terminal yester-Perhaps 4,000 persons passed the gates. The perfect weather was one reason for the turnout, while the excellence of the programme also was Close finishes predomimistakes in the judges' stand which was allowed to stand uncorrected.

In the running of the Nursery Highweight Handicap for all ages at about eix furlongs on the flat, Frederick Johnson's Reybourn, odds on favorite, closed with a brilliant stretch run and got the variety by a length and a half. The verdict by a length and a half. The judges placed Philip Stevenson's Petits udges placed Philip Stevenson of Chevaux second when, as a matter of Plutocrat, made a fact, her stable mate. Plutocrat, made a greater part of the running and actually finished in the place, two lengths before J. M. Ceballos, Jr.'s Sickle. The riders Petits Chevaux and Plutocrat work and 9 respectively on the saddlecloths were plainly seen by the spectators.

E. Tucker, who had the mount on Petits Chevaux, frankly admitted in the st all the way and that Plutocrat had finished behind the winner. The judges ordered the red board up without rectify-ing the mistake, however, which caused a controversy among those who had played Plutocrat a place. One prominent speculator announced that he had wagered $30 against $60 that Plutocrat would be second, and that the payment of the wager had been refused because of the official placing. In the prices quoted by those who received their figures from private layers Petits Chevaux and Plutocrat were coupled.

The judges evidently erred when they placed H. W. Warner's Nosegay, a favorite, second in the Richard Peters Challenge Cup at about one and a half miles on the flat. Philip Stevenson's Zellwood made the running from flag fall to finish, and won galloping by five lengths. Evans Tucker's Speculator, second choice, ridden by his owner, appeared to hold Nosegay safe all the way to the wire, where the latter seemed to be at least a neck behind. But Nosegay was assigned to the place, with Speculator third, while spectators who were in a direct line with the finish of the race looked on in astonishment.

The stewards deliberated so long over this incident that they did not adjust the red board until the horses were on the way to the post for the next event. There was no change inutes while Herbert Dunlay's M. M. Whitney indulged in two runaways.

A stunning upset was afforded by the Syomet Hurdle Plate, at about two miles.

Three starters faced the flag. At the post Wells Clark's Coventry ran away for arly a mile and contrary to the rules Mr. Bamberger dismounted, while his horse was led back to the starting point. The race quickly narrowed down to a duel between Charles R. Fleischmann's Norbitt and H. W. Warner's Faultless, the latter 4 to 5 favorite. They ran like a team the head of the homestretch, where Faultless, which excelled at jumping, drew sway. Mr. Alpers, perhaps, believed that Paultless couldn't lose, for he eased the mare up a trifle just as Norbitt, under a flerce drive, closed swiftly. In the last jumps Faultless again was overhauled in a hot drive Norbitt beat her
